MEET THE JUDGE of TIBETAN TERRIER

Ms Emily Jane Hadlow
Prefix: Quidditch

From an early age, I developed a passion for canine companionship, which naturally led me into the world of competitive dog shows. My formative years were shaped by the camaraderie and spirit of the show community, where I quickly learned the intricacies of grooming, presentation, and breed standards. This early immersion provided a solid foundation for my future successes in both handling and breeding. It began at age 6 in Ireland with my Lowchen. ……I loved his lion clip! A lifelong involvement with dog showing, beginning in infancy, and continuing through my teen years and adulthood.

My experience in the judging and breeding of Tibetan Terriers

My judging career commenced in the 1980s, and I have since officiated at numerous prestigious shows. Darlington Championship in 2010, where I awarded my first Challenge Certificate in the breed. Under the prefix Quidditch, established in 2005, I have successfully had multiple champions and achieved top winning TT one year under the Lasang Kennel (Champion Lasang Zippy Liz) my most recent Champion Snoanda Doing This My Way at Quidditch JW. Also showing my Veteran home bred (Quidditch A Touch of Sass) which has earned 1 Challenge Certificate and 3 Reserve Challenge Certificates, two Best Veteran in show at club shows this year.

My involvement with various breeds dates to my childhood, encompassing Shih Tzus and Lhasa Apso. My lifelong dedication to dog showing was influenced by early exposure through the Lasang Kennel and participation in esteemed events such as Crufts since the 1980s.

Throughout my childhood and for a number of years I enjoyed showing and handling many different dog breeds, amongst them, Shih Tzu, Tibetan Spaniel, Boxers, Rough Collies, American Cockers, Afghan Hounds and TT's. And always made the local newspaper in Ireland! Returned to the UK in 1985, continuing her involvement in the dog showing community.

The Kennel Club has approved me to judge at relevant level for Tibetan Terriers and attended many seminars presented by our top breeders over the years.

I remain active as a committee member in Tibetan Terrier Association and a member of the Kennel Club.
